

Firat Soylu, PhD

Dr. Firat Soylu was born and raised in Ankara, Turkey. He received a dual PhD in Instructional Systems Technology and Cognitive Science from Indiana University in 2011. Following that, he worked as a postdoctoral fellow at the Center for Connected Learning and Computer Based Modeling at Northwestern University in Evanston, IL.

He is currently working as an Associate Professor of Educational Psychology and Neuroscience in the Department of Educational Studies at the University of Alabama. While at UA, he has led the development of the Educational Neuroscience PhD Concentration and the Educational Neuroscience BSc program at UA, and started the ELDEN Lab. He previously served as the program coordinator for the Educational Psychology PhD/MA and Educational Neuroscience BS Programs.

His current research primarily focuses on numerical cognition and mathematics learning.

The Alabama Arts Summit is a partnership between the Alabama Arts Alliance and the Alabama State Department of Education. The Alabama Arts Alliance is funded in part by grants from the Alabama State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

